Nikita in East Berlin, Raps Kennedy Visit

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

BERLIN (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev arrived in East Berlin today and was told that President Kennedy's trip to West Berlin was made for the purpose of creating enmity among Germans. Khrushchev said he agreed.

He came for a summit meeting with leaders of Soviet bloc countries.

Walter Ulbricht, the spade-bearded East German Communist leader, greeted Khrushchev with a kiss and declared in a welcoming speech:

"Kennedy came to West Berlin to stir up the West German people against the people of East Germany in the interests of the American monopolists."

In reply Khrushchev said he agreed completely with Ulbricht's analysis of the Kennedy visit to West Berlin on Wednesday.

Khrushchev stepped out of his plane accompanied by his wife, Nina.

Contrary to speculation Khrushchev did not bring along Valentina Tereshkova, the Soviet space woman. Some thought he might do so in an effort to whip up public excitement similar to that which greeted Kennedy in West Berlin.

Officially the purpose of the visit—announced only four days ago to help Ulbricht celebrate his 70th birthday Sunday.

Following Khrushchev into Berlin were Polish party chief Wladyslaw Gomulka and Czechoslovak President Antonin Novotny.

Other satellite leaders are expected to assemble in East Berlin by Sunday, the 70th birthday of East German Communist party boss Walter Ulbricht.

Ulbricht's birthday is the official pretext for the gathering. But it is the first time Khrushchev has left home to attend a birthday party for a satellite leader, and Western officials in Berlin are convinced there is much more to the trip than that.

The announcement that Gomulka and Novotny also were coming produced a revision of earlier Western speculation that Khrushchev's visit was mainly a propaganda move intended to blunt the impact of President Kennedy's jubilant reception in West Berlin two days ago.

The Soviet and Chinese Communist parties open talks in Moscow July 5 on their bitter dispute over the policy the Communist countries should pursue in their relations with the rest of the world. Red Chinese leaders have marshaled public support for their stand in recent meetings with their North Vietnamese and North Korean allies. The Berlin meeting

Appointment of Mehaffy Aired

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Senate Judiciary subcommittee will hold a hearing July 8 on the nomination of Pat Mehaffy of Little Rock as a judge for the 8th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., who announced the hearing and who will head the subcommittee, said he knew of no opposition to the nomination.

Mehaffy, a Little Rock attorney, was nominated for the post earlier this week by President Kennedy.

Croxton Is Seeking Vote Registration

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Benton County Rep. Hardy Croxton outlined a permanent voter registration bill to civic leaders Thursday night, then was elected chairman of a committee to urge support of such legislation.

Croxton told some 50 representatives of various labor, bar, finance, political and civic organizations he had drafted a measure to allow voters to become permanently registered, by party, so long as they voted at least every two years.

He was named chairman of the Committee for Voter Registration.

Under his bill, each voter would be required to register at his home precinct. Re-registration in that precinct would become automatic when the voter cast his ballot each succeeding two years.

"Those who don't vote within the two-year period will be required to re-register in person at the county seat," he said.

Croxton said the bill would require all except military personnel to register.

He said he thought his bill would help development of a two-party system in the state, which he favored.

The legislator's plan drew some criticism from the group and Croxton agreed his bill had some kinks in it.

"It's not a perfect bill," he said, and asked the group not to be dissatisfied over a few details.

Croxton reminded them that if the required 38 states ratify a constitutional amendment outlawing use of the poll tax by next January, Arkansas will be left without a voter registration plan.

Thirty-six of the required 38 states have ratified the amendment.

Would Help Catholics in Red Area

By TOM OCHILTREE

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Paul VI is understood to be studying ways of arranging with Communist governments to improve the lot of the 60 million Roman Catholics behind the Iron Curtain.

In his week-old reign, the pontiff has set the stage publicly for re-establishing Vatican ties with Communist nations. He has served notice that he has no intention of involving the Vatican in the internal affairs of nations, but he has indicated that he wants Catholics behind the Iron Curtain to regain the opportunity to practice their faith freely.

His approach, revealed in messages received Thursday in Moscow and Warsaw, is persuasion. The messages, addressed to Premier Khrushchev and Aleksander Savadskii, titular head of the Polish government, acknowledged congratulations on the Pope's election. They expressed a wish for world peace.

They also reminded the Communist leaders that Christians live in their lands, especially in Poland, which has a 1,000-year history of Catholicism.

The Pope's message to Zawadzki—the first known communication from a Pope to the Communist government of Poland—noted that the Pope's greetings came from "a country with which we have been tied for a long time with old and dear remembrances and for which we desire with all our heart divine care."

Khrushchev's message, the pontiff wrote, "awakens in our soul the memory of the Russian people, their secular and Christian history."

Pope Paul reportedly is more interested in repairing bonds disrupted after World War II than in keeping alive old conflicts with Communists.

In this he is following policies initiated by Pope John XXIII, who sought to get Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty to leave the U.S. legation in Budapest and come to the Vatican in exchange for a relaxation of the Hungarian government's restrictions on the church.

Group Working on Recreation Area

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Federal, state and county officials are working together to develop a public recreation area west of Walnut Ridge on Lake Charles in Lawrence County.

The Soil Conservation Service estimates cost of the facility at $279,011. Plans call for a public beach, swimming area, picnic grounds, hiking trails, parking facilities, camp grounds, sanitary facilities and concession buildings.

The SCS can pay half of the costs. The remainder would be paid by the state and county governments.

The area would be turned over to the state Publicity and Parks Commission for operation.

Participating in planning of the facility at the SCS, the state Game and Fish Commission, the Highway Commission, Publicity and Parks Commission and Lawrence County.

$1.1 Million to Faubus' Home Town

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—This town of just over 1,000 persons has received $1,165,000 in federal grants and loans for expansion of its water system and construction of a sewer system, it was revealed Thursday.

Mayor Boyd Roberts said Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., and Rep. James Trimble, D-Ark., had notified him of the following:

A $410,000 grant by the Area Redevelopment Administration; a $581,000 loan by the Community Facilities Administration; and a $174,000 grant by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare through its water pollution control program.

Roberts said the city had been working since 1957 to get new water facilities to enable the community to attract industry. The city doesn't have a sewer disposal system. Septic tanks are used.

U.S. Traffic Deaths May Set Record

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council reported today that motor vehicle fatalities numbered 15,190 in the January-May period this year—a record for the first five months of any year.

"While the number of deaths increased 6 per cent in the five months," the council reported, "the amount of travel increased only 4 per cent. The resulting death rate for the period was 4.8 fatalities per 100 million miles, up 2 per cent."

May's toll of 3,650 soared 13 per cent above the tally in May 1962.

Increases have been marked up in 17 of the last 19 months.

Deaths averaged 100 per day between Jan. 1 and May 31.

Last year, when motor vehicle fatalities surged to a record 40,900, the heaviest losses of life were in June, July and August.

The council was asked the reasons for the upward trend.

Big numerical factors have been the steady increases in the number of motor vehicles and the miles they roll up on the streets and roads.

Arkansan Loses in Jaycee Vote

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Dick Headlee, 32, of Bountiful, Utah, was elected president of the U.S. Junior Chamber of Commerce today.

Waner Marks, 34, of Little Rock had been second in the race through the fourth ballot. Bob Dillon, 32, of Pittsfield, Mass., stepped down during the fifth balloting, then Marks bowed out.

Headlee won when his final opponent, Dick Thomas, 30, of Sedalia, Mo., moved for unanimous election.

The balloting climaxed the Jaycee's national convention. Headlee, his wife Mary and their seven children will move to the "Jaycee White House" in Tulsa, Okla., for the next year.

Testimony of Korth Conflicts With AF, Navy

By G. MILTO NKELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth gave Senate investigators a denial today that the Pentagon has settled for an interior costlier version of the TFX warplane.

His testimony before the Senate Investigations subcommittee was direct conflict with that given previously by witnesses for the uniformed Air Force and Navy. The plane is intended for use by both services.

Korth pictured the General Dynamics version as 320 miles an hour faster than Boeing's at high altitude, 150 miles an hour faster at low altitude. The top speed has been described in testimony as about two and a half times the speed of sound.

He said the General Dynamics plane could stay aloft longer than Boeing's—58 per cent longer over an assault area at extreme long range.

He said Boeing's design had unacceptable maneuvering restrictions, and that at extreme altitudes and speeds the General Dynamics version would be twice as maneuverable.

Boeing, he said, had a not-highly-significant advantage of lighter weight, but the General Dynamics version had an advantage of being smaller.

The subcommittee is seeking to establish whether favoritism figured in award of the potentially huge contract to the General Dynamics Corp. of Fort Worth, Tex., over the Boeing Co. of Seattle.

Korth insisted that General Dynamics won the contract on merit.

Union Co. Pays But the Plant Dies

By GEORGE F. BARTSCH

Union County is finding out you have to pay the doctor, even if the patient dies.

On May 17, 1961, county voters approved a $2 million bond issue to finance construction of a plant for the Chase-Grocord Rubber Co., and a 1.17 mill, $225,000 issue for equipment for the firm, one of the most promising industries that had settled in Arkansas.

Last Wednesday Chase-Grocord announced that it was in financial difficulty "which has made it impossible to operate any longer."

The taxes by which the bonds are to be retired still must be paid.

Craig Smith, senior administrator of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission until he resigned to go into private business today, reflected on the situation after Chase-Grocord's announcement.

While Union County seemingly is left paying for a dead horse, he explained, the situation is not really that bad. The city has the plant, all it has to do is find another industry to occupy it.

Ten to 15 prospective buyers already have looked at the building, which is located on a 20-acre plot in the El Dorado industrial park.

When both plant and equipment have been financed by an Amendment 49 bond issue, Smith said, an industry that is closing a plant can buy the equipment.

That's the situation at Benton, where Wheatley Industries, Inc., has closed its pump and valve plant.

"This provides the city or county enough money to meet its bond obligations for several years, giving it enough time to find a replacement for the original industry."

In seeking out new industry, Smith said, the AIDC attempts to call those which show signs of financial insecurity.

"We don't even look at a company unless it has a rating of 'B' or better in Dun and Bradstreet," Smith said, explaining that a firm with a B rating would show $200,000 to $300,000 in its credit appraisal. "And we check their credit ratings very carefully."

Smith also pointed out that the bond dealers make thorough checks of credit ratings.

"Industry doesn't tell you its sick," Smith added. "But when we hear that a company may be in trouble, we try discreetly to help them find out what their problem is and then tell them where they can find the help they need to overcome it."

There have been more than 50 Amendment 49 bond issues totaling $12 million as of last January, Smith said. "Considering that only two of three of the plants financed under the amendment have ceased operations, we have a pretty good record."

KISSIN' COUSINS — Kissin' cousin President John F. Kennedy breaks out with a big grin as he gets kissed by his "second cousin, once removed," Mrs. Mary Ryan, during his visit to the Kennedy family homestead in Dunganstown, Ireland. The kiss was the highlight of the most enthusiastic, and public, family reunion in Irish history.

Lions Club Has Fine Record for Community Achievement and Plan for Even More

Underwriters Hear About Probate Code

F. C. Crow local attorney spoke to the Hope Association of Life Underwriters today at its noon meeting at the Barlow Hotel. His subject was "The Probate Code."

He discussed the methods and procedure of administering estates of persons that died without a will, which is known as intestate, and the procedure to be followed when the decedent leaves a will, known as dying testate.

Dr. Crow emphasized that many persons work and save to create an estate by saving their earnings and never consider the fact they can create an estate the size of their desire by the mere stroke of the pen in applying for life insurance.

He further emphasized that many will pay for automobile liability, collision, fire, hail, tornado etc insurance when none of those calamities may strike them while neglecting to carry life insurance when death is a certainty.

He went into detail explaining the advantages of writing a will while in good health and stated that contrary to the popular opinion that only wealthy people need a will while a poor man does not and explained that it is far more important that a poor man leave a will than a rich man and he cited as an example a man worth $3,000, if he should die without a will his children would get $2,000 and his widow $1,000 while if a man's total assets be only $15,000 his widow's $5,000 would not support the old lady long while his young and healthy children spent the other $10,000.

It was his opinion that the man should have written during his lifetime a will willing everything to his wife so that she could have the entire $15,000 that she probably helped him earn.

C. H. Martin is president of the organization and had charge of the program and introduced the speaker.

The Hope Lions Club year comes to an end June 30th. New President Hubert Thrash has already taken the gavel from Harry Phillips. The club can look back with pride on its many contributions to our community in time and money.

The club's primary project of aiding the blind and visually handicapped and sent $800. To the blind center in Little Rock from its light bulb and broom sales.

Dr. Harold Brents, a Lion himself, gave $250 worth of services to local persons in examinations and glasses. Individual Lions also made personal pledges to the center.

The Hope Lions Club sponsor a Boy Scout Troop 91 and Lion Olen Overturn acts as Scout Master. The club pays $150 a year to sponsor a Little League Team. They sponsored a girl at girls' state and paid the fee for a scout to attend summer camp and aided in sending Janice Lloyd to the Dairy Princess contest.

They contributed $25 toward the purchase of a piano for the Nursing Home and bought food for Mrs. Cole's seeing eye dog throughout the year. Other contributions to civic and charitable causes totaled $140.53.

The major local effort, of course, is the annual Christmas Auction. . . and this year 120 baskets, valued at $15 each were distributed to local families on Christmas Eve. The club prepared the children for the Poultry Festival again this year.

The Hope Club had good representation at the regional conference in January and the State Convention in May. No one attended the International Convention, however, several members took part in chartering a new club at Mineral Springs on June 10th.

Membership has ranged from 48 to 55 throughout the year and the members will be working to build that figure to 60 before the end of the new year. With the kind of public service record the Hope Club boasts "It's great to be a Lion."

JFK Receiving a Very Hectic Irish Welcome

By PATRICK J. MASSEY

DUBLIN (AP)—President Kennedy called on the small nations today to imitate Ireland's support of the United Nations as the surest guarantee of world peace.

To great applause and cheers, Kennedy addressed a joint session of the Dail—a parliament formed out of centuries of struggle.

The Dail opened its doors and its heart to the U.S. President, a great-grandson of an Irish immigrant. He was the first U.S. president ever to address the Dail.

The big powers alone are no certain guarantee for the success of the U.N.'s peacemaking efforts, the President said.

"The peacekeeping machinery of the United Nations cannot work without the help of small nations," Kennedy said in a half-hour speech.

"Great powers have their responsibilities and their burdens, but the smaller nations of the world must fulfill their obligations as well."

After receiving the freedom of the City of Cork, Kennedy laid a wreath at the monument to 14 Irish patriots executed in the 1916 uprising against the British. Then he came to the Dail in Dublin.

After his speech, he went to Dublin Castle to accept honorary degrees from the National University and the University of Dublin, and the honorary freedom of the City of Dublin.

He winds up his three-day Irish tour Saturday in the counties of Galway, Limerick and Shannon.

The Dail's reception of Kennedy was enthusiastic, as have been all his appearances on this sentimental journey.

A helicopter stood by to whisk Kennedy to Dublin for his address to the two houses of parliament; after this there were ceremonies awarding the President honorary degrees from the National University and the University of Dublin and honorary freedom of the Irish capital.

The freedom of Wexford, New Ross, Galway and Limerick also have come or are coming Kennedy's way before his three-day Irish tour ends Saturday.

Under medieval custom, this gives the President first claim on a bed in the poorhouse in any of the six towns should he need it. This seems unlikely; his fortune recently was estimated at $10 million.

The President was guest of honor Thursday night at a banquet given by President Eamon de Valera and Prime Minister Sean Lemass.

TFX (Tactical Fighter, experidevelopment stage, years away from its first test flight.

Korth was expected to insist that General Dynamics won the contract on merit with the design for a plane that would out-perform that of Boeing, cost less, and be ready for delivery to the Navy and Air Force at an earlier date.
Korth is the first of the Pentagon secretaries the subcommittee plans to question in the windup phase of its long and often bitter investigation, which started last Feb. 26.
Secretary of Defense Robert S.
McNamara, who is to testify last, contends the project will give the United States the best and most versatile manned aircraft the world has known. He has said he plans to invest $6.5 billion or more in developing and producing 1,700 of the all-weather, all-purpose planes.
Subcommittee members said privately Korth among others would be quizzed sharply about the reasons behind the Kennedy administration's decision not to reappoint Adm. George W. Anderson as Chief of Naval Operations after Anderson had testified that he regarded Boeing's as the better design.

Informants outlining the Mac-

American-British and NATO deof Khrushchev's position from his major European allies.

Some Western officials suspect the Communist leaders may take the occasion to renew demands for a German peace treaty. This Soviet device for threatening the allied position in West Berlin was put on ice last year and barely has been mentioned in recent months.
Slogans and placards put up in East Berlin for the visitors gave no hint, however, that a revival of the peace treaty demand was in the offing.
The slogans praised German-Soviet friendship and "our great friend Nikita Khrushchev." They also contained such soothing sentiments as "every good deed for socialism helps to preserve world peace."

SHORTY A 2-Minute Short Story

TRIPLE SLAM
By STEVE APRIL

"We were sitting around, making small ring talk, wondering who would referee tonight's fight, when the old trainer said in a shrill voice, 'Don't give me a ref who's a talker. Since television you get a type ref who thinks he's an actor, can't dirty his hands touching the fighters. When the pugs are clinching instead of stopping in and parting 'em, he'll mug at the television camera as he says, 'Now fight your way out, fellows.' All wrong. Clinching and infighting are part of boxing. In the old days, when I was throwing leather, guys could make you cry in close."
"You were a barrel of apes in a clinch yourself," another old-timer said.
The trainer nodded. "Maybe I was. Any of you remember Andy Wills?"
Nobody did.
"Andy was a good club fighter back about 1923. Tough and smart.
I was fighting him in a 6-round and we both liked to lean against each other, out-tangle the other, and bang away at the head. It wasn't the kind of action the fans could see or appreciate, and they booed. We had one of these talking referees. Kept giving us this:
'Break. Come on, stop mauling and punch your way free! I said break!'
"You understand, no matter what the fans thought, for boxers like me and Andy clinching and mauling was our way of fighting.
You don't see no marks on my face, either. Anyway, in the third round we're clinching, trying to wrestle a hand loose, and the ref is chattering like a parrot. Andy whispers, 'This orator gives me a pain.'
"Me, too," I say, trying to work my right from under his left arm pit.

steps toward us, Andy and I break apart. I let go a wild right swing while Andy shoots his left hook. Man, we both connect with the ref's fat chin and backwards he falls—stiff!
"Of course, I also have my own left winging for Andy, and darn if he ain't sneaking a straight right in my way. Both of us had the same idea—get over a haymaker while socking the ref. Well, we both connected—again.
"It's four minutes later before
I come to. Cops are in the ring.
The ref is a study in still life on the canvas. Andy's trying to sit up, groggy. 'Im on my back-blinking at the overhead lights.'
"A triple kayo?" I asked.
"Yeah."
"I never heard of a triple knockout before I'm a student of ring history and even a double slumber is rarity. Why, this must have been the greatest bout in history!"
The trainer blinked his big eyes sadly. "You'd think that, student, wouldn't you? Me and Andy figured at least we'd be booked for

We had one of those talking referees.

a return go. But nobody appreciated the bout. The three of us, including the ref, got suspended by the commission for a month."
"Why?" I asked.
"It was such an original fight,
they figured it was impossible.
So they said it had to be a setup—fixed." The little man sighed.
"Andy and me were born too soon. Man, can you picture the sensation a triple kayo would be on television today!"

Another Plant for Ft. Smith

FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP)—Fort Smith's 54th new plant in the past seven years will be a $500,000
Olin Mathieson Chemical Corp., packaging plant.
Location of the Mathieson plant in Fort Smith was announced Thursday by the Chamber of Commerce.
Jim Alexander, chairman of the chamber's industrial committee, said the plant will be located in an existing 47,000-square-foot brick building on a 12-acre site.
About 35 persons will be employed on one shift initially, Alexander said, and another shift will be added later with 15 employees.
The plant, which will manufacture corrugated shipping containers, is expected to be in production some time in September.

city manager form.

Cuban Sugar Crop Menaced

HAVANA (A)—The newspaper
Hoy reports the entire Cuban sugar crop is menaced.
It said Thursday no more than 158,400 acres would be planted by June 30, only 39 per cent of the normal acreage.
Hoy blamed the "slow use of new systems which means difficulties for the plans developed by the party and revolutionary government."

Comes Up With Space Scooter

DOWNEY, Calif. (AP) — An aerospace firm has come up with something it calls a space scooter, a one-man platform with handlebars designed for crater hopping and crag climbing on the moon.
It's steered by balance, like a surfboard. Lean in the direction you want to go, and you do.
North American Aviation envisions a model, powered by jets

Judge Trying to Improve Driving

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Traffic Judge John L. Sullivan has preached for a driver improve, ment school for years. Now he has one and he is waiting eagerly to see how it works out.

Classes start July 11 and Sullivan already has "sentenced" 13 traffic violators to take the six-hour course. He expects to swell the complement to 20 by the starting date.

The scholars will explore, under tutelage of two veteran police officers, the driving deficiencies which brought them into court.

On graduation they will return to Sullivan's court for final dispensation of the case and Sullivan will consider their "report cards" in coming to a decision.

Present plans call for only one series of classes to be in session at a time. But Sullivan stands ready to expand the school if he finds enough students.

The two-hour classes are held at night once a week. Each student will be required to look hard at his own driving faults.

The school grew out of Sullivan's feeling that too often a fine is an inadequate penalty for a traffic offense.

"They pay and go out and do the same thing again," he said. "This school will make them think about what they are doing."

Costs of the school will be paid with contributions from businessmen and other friends of Sullivan, a popular judge with the public, if not with traffic offenders.

Sullivan says he has not arrived at a formula for picking his "students." "The constant violators will have to go, of course," he said, "but, in other cases, I'll make assignments to the school if I feel the individual needs improvement more than punishment."

Sullivan has a reputation as a tough judge who backs up the police officer if there is a question in a case. He believes the reputation is unwarranted and explains, "I'm just doing what the law provides and the certainty of punishment is more effective on lawbreakers than anything else."

Traffic enforcement is a monumental job. Little Rock, a city of 140,000, has 400,000 moving violations and 100,000 parking violations a year. The trend is always up.

And the solution, Sullivan feels, is simple. It requires only the co-operation of the public and courtesy on the part of the driver.

His court records show that failure to yield the right of way (a simple matter of courtesy, he explains) causes more accidents than any other violation.

In the area of co-operation, he has asked citizens to report the license number of any car they see involved in a traffic violation.

"We can't make an arrest in this kind of case," he says, "but we can write a letter to the offender telling him that he was observed breaking the law and asking him to co-operate. We've tried this and it has a good effect. One man who got such a letter thanked us for calling his attention to something he had thoughtlessly been doing wrong."

Sullivan became a traffic judge by appointment in 1957. He says he had never thought about such a position, but he took it quickly to heart. He got attention from news media for his sternness with offenders and he began preaching his traffic safety lesson to civic clubs and anyone else who would listen.

He lost the job in 1958 because, believing that his appointment was for three years, he failed to

Sentiment Has Cropped Up

DUBLIN (AP) — Since President Kennedy arrived in Dublin two days ago, anti-English sentiment, dating from years of British occupation, has occasionally cropped up.

President Eamon de Valera greeted Kennedy at Dublin airport Wednesday with a speech which mentioned "the invader."

In New Ross Thursday, Mayor Andy Minihan drew cheers from the crowd with a passing reference to Belfast, capital of British-controlled Northern Ireland.

In his speech at Wexford, Kennedy referred to the Irish people's "hundreds of years of foreign domination." His speech got an ovation.

Hot, Muggy Weather Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot, muggy weather embraced much of the nation today, but relief was accorded by rain in some areas as June headed toward its final weekend.

Partly cloudy and cloudy skies prevailed over most of the eastern third of the continent, the Pacific Northwest and along the northern California coast. The remainder of the country had generally clear skies, shrouded intermittently with clouds which dropped scattered rainfalls.

The uncomfortably hot weather came on the heels of a scorcher which sent the mercury roaring into the mid-90s in many parts of the country Thursday, causing serious water shortages in some towns and cities.

In Philadelphia, where the mercury lodged at a record-shattering 97 in mid-afternoon, officials took action to prohibit citizens from opening fire hydrants as a cooling device. City crews were sent to several areas of low pressure to cap hydrants. One hydrant was turned off four times. On the fourth trip, when a fire department worker reached the scene to cap an open hydrant, 11 youths pushed him under the hydrant stream.

Plans Series of Great Bible Stories

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — ABC and a major Hollywood studio are planning an important series of programs for the 1963-64 season. MGM announced the series as "Great Stories from the Bible." ABC very disturbed is issued a correction! The real title, it said, will be "Great Bible Stories."

A special Nielsen report estimates that more than 45 million homes had their television sets tuned to the coverage of L. Gordon Cooper's space flight. That works out to about 9 out of 10 homes, and was the report says, the largest audience ever tuned in to an event.

NBC's "Mystery Theatre" won't be as fresh a series as might seem. Eight of the 15 programs which replace Perry Como for the summer will be reruns.

Recommended weekend viewing:
Saturday — "Lucy-Desi Shows," CBS, 7:30-8:30 p.m. EDT—Reruns of comedy specials from other seasons.

Sunday — "Opening Night," NBC, 10-11 p.m. — Documentary shot during rehearsals of an off-Broadway show.

file as a candidate in the 1957 election. R. W. (Bob) Laster filed moments before the ticket closed and won the post as an unopposed candidate.

Sullivan came back in 1959 and swamped Laster and another opponent in his first bid for an elective office.

Sullivan, 67, is a native of Brooklyn. He moved to Little Rock in 1913, when he was 17. He started law practice in 1929 with a degree from the Arkansas Law School. His only other experience in public service is as a deputy prosecutor and assistant city attorney.

He has no other political ambitions, remarking, "If I can do justice to this job, I'll be satisfied."

New Pope Sounds Like the Old One

EDITOR'S NOTE — AP correspondent James M. Long reports in the last of three articles how Pope Paul VI echoes, in many ways, the words of his predecessor, Pope John XXIII, on Christian unity, the Ecumenical Council and peace.

By JAMES M. LONG

VATICAN CITY (AP) — "We open our arms to all those who glory in the name of Christ. We call them with the sweet name of brothers."

Those words sound like Pope John XXIII. But they were spoken with the younger, vibrant voice of Pope Paul VI.

"Our work, with the aid of God, will be to undertake every effort for the conservation of the great good of peace among peoples."

Those words, too, sound like Pope John. They too were spoken by Pope Paul.

Slightly built, intense, ascetic Pope Paul resembles Pope Pius XII. But he expresses thoughts more like Pope John in terms of Christian unity, social reform and justice.

When the conclave of cardinals of the Roman Catholic Church selected Ginevanni Battista Montini to succeed Pope John, they knew where he stood.

Two weeks before he left his archbishopric of Milan to attend the conclave, he pledged support of Pope John's Ecumenical Council and his work for peace, even with the Communist countries.

"Pope Paul stated this even more plainly in his first address, the day after his election: "The pre-eminent part of our pontificate will be occupied with the continuation of the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council. This will be the principal work for which we intend to devote all the energies which the Lord gave us so that the Catholic Church . . . can attract all men to it."

Like Pope John, Pope Paul does not think Christian unity will be soon or easily achieved. But he believes the Ecumenical Council can make progress toward that goal.

Some on the extreme left and extreme right had claimed that Pope John, in creating a new atmosphere between the church and countries under Kremlin control, had softened toward Communism.

Pope Paul, too, has spoken of the need for understanding. But during his eight years as archbishop in the Red stronghold of industrial North Italy, his words left no doubt as to his ideas on communism.

Pope Paul is five feet eight inches tall and weighs 150 pounds. His grey hair is sparse. His blue eyes, deep set under heavy black eyebrows, have an intense, almost hypnotic look.

He speaks fluent French and good English in addition to Latin and Italian. He also has considerable knowledge of German and Spanish and knows some Polish. He eats lightly, seldom sleeps more than six hours a night, and drives himself intensely in his work.

Pope Paul enjoys television. He delights in quiz programs and follows transmissions of bicycle racing. He always has been a bike fan. He also enjoys his large collection of records of classical and religious music. He surrounds himself with books.

Because of his intense energy Pope Paul has been called "The Pope in a hurry."

Helen Keller to Relax a Bit

EASTON, Conn. (AP) — After a bustling life, Helen Keller had decided to relax a little.

So there won't be any special fuss today—her 83rd birthday. But there was no rest for the mailman as he bore his heavy burden to Miss Keller's sprawling old house, Arcan Ridge.

Greetings to the blind and deaf author came from the humble and the great. There also were bouquets of roses, Miss Keller's favorite flower.

"You are one of the select company of men and women whose achievements have become legendary in their own time," wrote President Kennedy.

In recent years, Miss Keller has limited her activity but she continues as a consultant to the American Foundation for the Blind.

"Miss Keller is happy, alert and content," says Mrs. Evelyn Seiden, her secretary and companion. "But she now wants to enjoy some of the quiet that has been denied her over the years."

Uses Hobby in Spreading the Gospel

By WILLIAM RIEMERMAN

Of The St. Paul Pioneer Press
ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — A St. Paul Lutheran pastor is using a lifelong hobby as an effective auxiliary in spreading the gospel.

The Rev. Paul E. Schuessler of Pilgrim Lutheran Church is a self-taught cartoonist who uses his skill to publish religiously oriented pamphlets and to give "chalk-talk sermons."

The pastor does not consider himself a particularly good artist, but he credits cartoons with being "irresistible media of communication."

"Cartoons do not have the lasting impact of music or serious art," he says. "In fact most of them are almost immediately forgotten. But they pinpoint the attention of the viewer on the point you are trying to make."

As visual aids they are superior to illustrations or photographs, he said, because they can violate the laws of space and time.

Pastor Schuessler, the son of a Chicago minister, sees nothing unusual about the tie-in between religion and cartooning. Religious and political cartooning date back to the reformation, he noted.

Pastor Schuessler started drawing as a boy during his father's non-liturgical sermons.

He came to St. Paul to take the pastorate of the St. Clair and Prior Avenues Church in August 1959, and last January published a 24-page cartoon pamphlet about a man searching for and finding Christ.

Of 10,000 copies he had printed, 5,000 have been bought for distribution by his church's Commission on Colleges and Universities.

He also has used his cartooning skills on a local television Bible story program. He tells Bible stories and illustrates them with sketches.

DOROTHY DIX

ANOTHER WIFE HEARD FROM BY HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: About a month ago you published a letter from a 64-year-old widow who said she loved a married man. That man was my husband!

If she's smitten by his sweet talk why doesn't she come to see me and get my side of the whole sorry story? Having heard it, she will be glad she's not married to my tom cat. He's had more affairs in the last three years than I can count on the fingers of my two hands. Yet he says he would not take a million dollars for me. Ha! Tell "Very Unhappy," as she signs herself, to have a talk with — Rover Boy's Wife.

Dear Rover Boy's Wife: Good idea! I'm all for you and "Unhappy" having a heart-to-heart meow. Since you have one interest in common, it might prove to be an enlightening experience, especially if your "tom cat" is pussy-footing within earshot. At the very least, it would serve the therapeutic purpose of letting off steam, and it just might disillusion "Unhappy" to the extent that she would get over being "smitten."

In spite of her years, the widow has apparently fallen for that familiar refrain of being misunderstood at home. Isn't it strange how the same noise sound like caterwauling to some ears and like sweet talk to others?

Of course you're worth over a million dollars to your husband, his infidelities notwithstanding. Any wife is invaluable to that kind of man because she can always provide him with a perfect escape whenever there is any danger of his being pressured into signing on the dotted line.

I suspect that he's just another one of those basically insecure males who feels compelled to "prove" his virility by constantly adding to his list of "conquests." You don't necessarily need to blame yourself for this defect. It probably existed long before your marriage.

Try to remain philosophical and remember that bitterness only hurts you. Derive solace from the epigram, "Time wounds all heels." Incidentally, if your husband has had more than 10 affairs in the past three years, I'd like to observe him in action — at a safe distance. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Philandering." Serve it to him with his breakfast!

Dear Helen: My husband and I were married six months when he got rubber poisoning at a rubber plant where he had worked only a week. He's been out of a job ever since and is now convinced that he will never find another. All he wants to do is go back to his parents. Sometimes I think he no longer loves me. Never once does he say he loves me, hold my hand, or help with the work. And — he won't take a step without first asking his parents. Should I make him stand on his own feet or divorce? He is 20, I am 17. —Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: At the ages of 20 and 17, you and your husband both have more growing up to do. I think you can help each other to do it.

Right now his morale is at a low ebb. It's your job as his wife to supply the encouragement and support he is seeking from his parents. You can't "make him stand on his own two feet," but you can help him do so by assisting him in every way possible to get a job which I believe is the crux of your whole problem. No male enjoys being useless, regardless of the front he may put up.

I am not sufficiently familiar with "rubber poisoning" to know what ill effects, if any, your husband has suffered. He might ask for employment advice from the personnel director of his former company. I assume he's been to the State Employment Service and to other private agencies. It may be that he needs training in an entirely different field, or even that you should consider moving to another area where there are more job openings. I admit that you need intelligent counseling with this problem, so don't rule out your in-laws on this score. But the follow through should be by you and your husband working independently as a team.

Dear Helen: My Mom had a serious operation and will be with us until strong enough to look after herself. If it weren't for her money we might often go hungry, yet my husband acts like a bear toward her. Loving them both I am near crazy from worry. —Unhappy

Dear Unhappy: Your husband is surely because your mother, not he, foots the bills. If she refuses to bail him out, he will be forced to come to his senses. Spend her money only on food for her even if you two go hungry. When he kicks — as he will — say, "A husband is supposed to provide for his family. Find a job." Instead of being "near crazy" with worry keep in mind the words of this unknown writer, "Worry is like a rocking chair. It gives you something to do but gets you nowhere."

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'Empire' Dropped and Redigo Bitter

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP)—There was an edge of anger in Richard Egan's voice.

"Why try to do the best you can?" he argued. "Why aim for quality in television when a rehash of 'The Real McCoys' takes the season's honors?"

The actor was comparing the fate of the season's hit in the ratings, "The Beverly Hillbillies," with his own show, "Empire." The latter was dropped, although it will return as a half-hour fashioned around Egan's character and called "Redigo." He portrays Jim Redigo, a ranch foreman.

A lot of Egan's blood and sweat went into "Empire." In an effort to achieve realism for the hour-long contemporary western, nearly all of it was filmed in and around Santa Fe, N.M. Egan moved his wife and younger daughter there.

"That was the only way I could see anything of them," he said. "I found myself working 17- and 19-hour days, and on Saturday and Sunday, too."

"Last fall I worked for 47 straight days without a day off." Reasons for cancellation of the show are clouded in network-sponsor politics. "Empire" faced the formidable opposition of Red Skelton, but Egan said the ratings were respectable, even coming within a few points of a Judy Garland special.

"Empire" had format troubles and dropped its two female stars in mid-season. Egan explained: "Terry Moore's character couldn't integrate with the show. It was jarring to be doing a heavy drama, then cut to a shot of her beside her swimming pool."

"As for Lucia, owner of the Garret ranch (played by Anne Seymour) in a matter of her relation to Redigo. People resented his having to ask her if he could move some sheep to Montana, right after he had been involved in some violent action he had settled himself."

Egan said "Empire" had been set to move to ABC, but NBC still had a month's option and wouldn't part with it. When NBC decided to continue the show only a half-hour's time was available.

"Redigo" will be filmed in California's San Fernando valley. "We spent up to $200,000 per show to get realistic quality on location," said Egan. "Then the big hit of the year comes along at probably $40,000 or $50,000 per show. What's the use in trying?"

Sees No Hope for Race Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Ada Caytoell, D-N.Y., said today that as it looks now there is no chance of getting through Congress a law banning racial discrimination in hotels and restaurants.

Powell, a Negro who represents the Harlem area of New York City, predicted that a failure of Congress to enact the key public accommodations section of President Kennedy's civil rights bill would cause increased Negro demonstrations in the South.

As for the section's chances, Powell told a news conference it is doomed by the opposition of GOP congressional leaders Sen. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana.

"No civil rights bill has a chance without Republican support," he said. "Ideally, I'd like to see a public accommodations law but knowing the political realities I'd have to say that as it looks now, it doesn't have a chance."

State Revenue Climbs to New Record

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — State revenues during the fiscal year which ends Sunday climbed to a new high of $181,433,182, Revenue Commissioner J. Orville Cheney reported today.

This is $12,502,081 more than collections during the previous year.

Cheney said he felt the figures tell the story of Arkansas' continued steady growth. Collection records were set in almost all tax categories.

Although the fiscal year does not end until Sunday, tax books were closed Thursday so that records could be compiled.

Sales taxes for the year totaled $62,174,053, compared to $56,586,643 in fiscal 1962 and the gasoline tax take reached $45,494,630, an increase of $2,502,633.

General revenues totaled $113,698,007, an increase of $8,233,232. This is the fund from which the money comes to pay for basic state services, such as education.

Revenue figures for June, the last month of the year, were about $143,000 below June of last year because of a $211,000 drop in income tax collections for the month. The month's total was $14,732,088. Sales tax collections were up about $309,000, however.

Income tax collections for the year were up, too, totaling $24,864,693, compared to $22,533,987 last year.

Nuclear Attack Committee

ATLANTA (AP) — Gov. Carl Sanders has named seven state officials to a planning committee to head a statewide emergency program in event of nuclear attack.

The group, known as the Emergency Resources Planning Committee, has powers to freeze and control prices and rents, administer emergency rationing and establish a program for effective state and local management of essential resources in case of disaster.

Still Is Raided

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—Officers arrested two men and broke up a large still Monday in a raid about 14 miles southeast of Camden. Ouachita County Sheriff Grover Linebarrier said Melvin David Vick and Walter R. Sweet, both of Smackover, were arrested and charged with the illegal manufacture of liquor.

Melbourne Bldgs. Gutted by Fire

MELBOURNE, Ark. (AP)—Fire destroyed the Stroud Mercantile Co., and damaged two other buildings on the west side of the Melbourne city square today.

Volunteer firemen from Melbourne and Calico Rock fought the flames for two hours. It was feared for a time that the fire would spread to other buildings in the block.

Damage was estimated at $100,000.

Buildings housing a Western Auto store and the Agricultural Stabilization Committee offices were heavily damaged.

J. C. Miller, a businessman, discovered the fire about 6 a.m. He said he heard a small explosion and looked up to see the Stroud building enveloped in flames.

Firemen said the fire apparently started from faulty wiring.

Asks for a Portion of Rights Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Orin Harris, D-Ark., of the House Commerce Committee asked today that the public accommodations portion of President Kennedy's civil rights bill be referred to his committee.

In the House, as in the Senate, the entire bill was referred to the Judiciary Committee. But in the Senate a separate bill dealing with the public accommodations proposals was sent to the Commerce Committee, which plans hearings next month.

Harris made his request in a letter to Chairman Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., of the House Judiciary Committee, which now is conducting hearings on the comprehensive measure.

Harris, a foe of civil rights legislation, also asked that the Judiciary Committee refrain from reporting a bill containing the provisions of Title II without the advice, counsel and recommendations of the (Commerce) Committee.

Harris told Celler that Title II—the portion which proposes to prohibit racial discrimination in public accommodations affecting interstate commerce—refers to mobility, transportation and commerce.

Under House rules, Harris argued, his committee has jurisdiction over commerce and transportation.

Under House rules the speaker refers bills to the various House committees.

DOROTHY DIX

HER SON TIME-CLOCKED BY GRASPING WIFE

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE
Dear Helen: What would you do with a daughter-in-law who grabbed two baskets of flowers off the church platform at my second husband's funeral? He passed away last winter.

My first husband left me with seven children, ages 4 to 15. I struggled along on my own, too proud to take help from government or relatives. And by hard work I paid off the mortgage on the farm, and me only 35 years old. My in-laws borrowed over $2,000 without interest and never paid it back.

Then I married a man who was 54 and struggled some more. Now he's gone. The daughter-in-law also tried to take a white kid New Testament given by his lodge. Not content with this harassment she walked off with my everyday dishes, saying, "You got a good set. Use it."

If my son comes here she makes me pay him cash for every little thing he does. She clocks him from the time he leaves home till he returns. She chased him out of the house because he ran up a $5 car repair bill because he didn't have the tool to fix it himself. After staying with me three weeks, he went back. It breaks my heart to see him treated so badly. How can I protect myself from his wife? —Crushed

Dear Crushed: If you can take a little candid guessing on my part, I would guess that there may be a tug of war going on between you and your daughter-in-law for your son's allegiance, affection and attention. If I am wrong, then I have even more specific counsel: get up off the floor, erase that "WELCOME SIGN" from your back, and stop being a doormat. You're being walked on and you're encouraging it.

Why not make a firm effort to recover the $2,000 from those in-laws? Unless you know positively that they are unable to repay the sum, you have not only a right, but an obligation to yourself to do this. Understandably, your morale is worn thin from double widowhood, playing Santa to inconsiderate in-laws, and losing a running battle to the rather aggressive girl who married your son. Don't you have locks on your doors?

Start patching your self-respect by sending out two bills: One to those who owe you the $2,000 and the other to your daughter-in-law for the price of one set of everyday dishes. You may not get a nickel in reply but you certainly will feel better. After that, stand in front of your mirror and practice saying fine old word that has been lost from your vocabulary. The word is "No!" Say it with emphasis.

Dear Helen: I am a 79-year-old widower living with my widowed daughter and her two children. She teaches in the public schools. They are all so sweet and kind I want to do what I can for them. After they leave for school I wash the dishes and usually find some odd jobs to do around the house — being a retired mechanic and handy. Also I feed the two Irish setters and am now building a roomy pen for them in our backyard.

But this is not enough to keep me busy the day through. Any suggestions for an able-bodied active olderster? If I could find some home work which would pay, so much the better. I read your column regularly and while not many of the problems presented apply to me, I enjoy it. May long life and good fortune ever be yours. —J. P.

Dear J. P.: It's a pleasure to

No Lead in Dynamiting

STUTTGART, Ark. (AP)—Sheriff Harold Woodson said today that investigators had turned up no valid lead in the dynamiting of a Negro church at nearby Gillett June 18.

"Every time we run down a lead, it ends up on the wrong road," Woodson said.

Two sticks of dynamite shattered the front door of the church about 9 p.m. No one was hurt.

Woodson said earlier he felt the job was the work of a transient fanatic because there had been no racial unrest in the Gillett area.

Tree Farmers Are Certified

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP) — Certification of 18 new tree farmers by the Arkansas Tree Farm Committee during its summer meeting at Camden has boosted the number of Arkansas tree farms to 1,124.

Tree Farm Chairman B. A. Ryan of Camden reported that Arkansas now ranks seventh among the 48 tree-farming states and boasts a total of more than 3.6 million acres of managed forest land.

Ryan explained that a tree farm is a privately-owned forest of any size dedicated by its owner to growing continuous crops of timber for forest products.

The administration building at the State Hospital was constructed in 1882.

receive a letter like yours. You seem to have hit upon the magic formula for happiness — keeping busy and devoting yourself to others. You are fortunate also in being blessed with good health, a considerate family, and two skills which are sorely in demand today. With all the mechanical gadgets supposed to make life "easier," we are producing fewer men and women capable of making even the most minor repairs.

Why don't you set up a simple "fix-it" shop in your basement? Publicize your service by word of mouth or an ad in your newspaper. You might also refinish furniture and perhaps even build small custom-made pieces.

One more suggestion! Since you already are caring for two dogs of your own, would it be feasible from time to time to board other people's pets? I have several friends who are so attached to their dogs and cats that they refuse invitations to go anywhere rather than put them in an impersonal kennel. So do I. You certainly have many assets which can be capitalized on.

If you'd like more ideas, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope for my leaflet, "Turn Your Spare Time Into Cash."

Dear Helen: I notice much to do in your column about the proper age for a girl to date and make-up. I started dating at 11 and didn't turn out too bad. One shouldn't generalize. Each is master — or mistress — of her own fate.

I notice that the girl who signs herself "Miss Experience" blames her parents. I blame her. It's her fault, not theirs, if she slips. A guy who really loves a girl does not ask her to "prove" her love. He has too much respect for her. Miss Experience should face facts. —Miss Eighteen

Dear Eighteen: I agree with you that generalizations are wrong, including this one. (Someone far wiser than me said that a long time ago.) Nevertheless, I still think that 11 is too young for dating. There's plenty of time for that in the mid-teens and later. Why put unnecessary social pressures on children who are too young to handle them?

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Jordan, 37, now a bar operator, was cautious about his chances of winning, however.

He said San Francisco's major problem is civil rights and that is his platform.

Station Can't Give Up License Yet
HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) - Garland Chancery Judge Sam W. Garrett has temporarily enjoined the Phoenix Broadcasting Station, operator of Hot Springs Radio Station KAAH, from voluntarily surrendering the station's license to the Federal Communications Commission.

Garrett issued the injunction Wednesday on a petition from Camden Radio, Inc. He set July 23 for a hearing on the case.

Camden said in its petition that it had an interest in the station because it has bought the capital stock, and would suffer irreparable harm if the station license was given up.

Garrett said in the injunction that Phoenix and Harmon I. Moseley, station manager, are enjoined from surrendering the license "until final determination of such issue can be made by this court July 23."

Generating Station in Production
OZARK, Ark. (AP)—The Thomas B. Fitzhugh electric generating station went into commercial production today, providing 57,000 kilowatts of power for the state's electric co-operative lines.

The station will be dedicated at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, two years to the minute after ground was broken.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus and Clyde T. Ellis, general manager of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association in Washington, will be the main speakers at the dedication. Ellis is a former Arkansas 3rd District congressman.

The generating plant cost $7.5 million, $2 million less than engineers' estimates. Harry L. Oswald, general manager of the Arkansas Electric Cooperative Association, said the savings was due to "good buys and hard bidding."

Also to be dedicated Sunday is a memorial to Fitzhugh, a pioneer leader of the electric co-op movement. It is located on a bluff overlooking the Ozark Dam on the Arkansas River.

Fitzhugh, who died in 1954, was the founder of the Arkansas Electric Cooperative Association and of the National Rural Electric Co-operative Association. He was legal counsel for both organizations and at one time was a member of the state Utilities Commission.

The plant named for him is the first co-op generating facility in Arkansas. Another is planned for Augusta.

Castro to Talk to His People
MIAMI, Fla. (AP) - Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro will address the nation tonight on radio and television, a Havana broadcast announced.

Castro will address a meeting of sugar workers in a Havana theater at 7:30 p.m. Havana radio has been announcing the speech for days and urging workers to attend.

Arlene excitedly displayed her engagement ring to her sister. "Honestly, Sis, I'm so glad Hank Martin happened to come to town and phone you and you decided not to go to that dance with Jason last Spring. Jason's wonderful and I love him so much!"

Irene sighed, surveying her own empty finger. "Yes, but Hank was only here for the evening. Why is it that every man I meet over six feet tall turns out to be either dull, or just passing through town?"

"Maybe, someday..."

"Don't worry, Sis!" Irene smiled and hugged Arlene. "I'm very happy for the both of you. Uh—did Jason ever tell you? Has he got a BIG brother?"

LONG AND SHORT
By PAT WERNER

Jason L. Q. Smith silenced the bleating alarm clock. He jumped out of bed and immediately began a vigorous exercise routine. One-two, one-two, stretch! He concentrated on the last part and stretched until his pulling, straining muscles threatened to lock in one continuous charley horse.

He'd exercised faithfully at least 20 of his 26 years, ever since he'd been dubbed "Tom Thumb Smith" in the first grade.

Today was a month since the last time he'd measured himself. He backed up to the wall and deftly made a small pencil mark at the crown of his head. He took his yardstick and checked the result: still only five-foot-six. And, Irene, the long-stemmed lovely at the office who was unknowingly making a shambles of his heart, was at least five-foot-nine!

He sighed and looked at himself in the mirror. Not too bad in the face, he thought. Straight nose, not too big, not too small, even teeth, dark eyes and black hair with just enough wave to make it behave beautifully. His body was muscular and well-developed. Exercise and good diet had sculptured the broad shoulders and narrow hips.

He rammed his fist down onto the dresser. Girls like Irene went for guys who were tall. Why did he have to be so short?

Jason went round and round with his problem through his morning shower and his wheat germ and yogurt breakfast.

It was still with him at the office, tangling his thoughts and confusing his papers.

Jason caught the scent of a familiar, disturbing perfume. He looked over the top of the filing cabinet and watched Irene glide

by. Jason's heart melted with longing as he noted how the morning sun glistened on her raven hair when she passed the window. She was gorgeous! Every luscious, curvy inch of her!

She was sweet-natured as well. Wonderful wife-material! All the fellows at the office had dated her once or twice and then—and then came the rub. It seemed that Irene was very-very particular. Too particular for the other men, but not for Jason—he liked that quality. Trouble was, that it was this quality that would probably keep him from getting a date with her. Even if she would be agreeable to wearing flat shoes, and Jason doubted this, the willowy Irene would tower above him.

Irene and Arlene were sisters and they looked almost enough alike to be twins.

Arlene watched Irene brushing her hair at the dressing-table. "Aren't you going to the office dance at all then?" she asked.

Irene sighed. "I've dated everybody there. They're all so—so ordinary! And now, I suppose it's my fault, but no one's asked me to the dance." She thought a moment. "There's the new boy, though—Jason. He's been nice to me."

"Well, then—there's your answer!"

"I suppose I could get him to take me and then when we got there I could dance with the other men..."

"But why? What's wrong with this Jason?"

"Nothing, really—he's very nice. But he's so short! Still—at least I'd have a date."

Jason nervously rang the bell at Irene's house. It was like a dream coming true, Irene consenting to go to the dance with him.

The door opened. A small, grey-haired woman smiled, invited him in—and offered him a chair. "I'm the girls' mother. She'll be right down."

"At last the door at the top of the stairs opened and loveliness in pale pink chiffon floated down and stood before him.

Jason gasped. He couldn't believe his eyes. She barely came to his chin!

"Mr. Smith? I'm Arlene, Irene's sister. She has a dreadful headache. I hope you won't mind my taking her place."

Arlene excitedly displayed her engagement ring to her sister. "Honestly, Sis, I'm so glad Hank Martin happened to come to town and phone you and you decided not to go to that dance with Jason last Spring. Jason's wonderful and I love him so much!"

Irene sighed, surveying her own empty finger. "Yes, but Hank was only here for the evening. Why is it that every man I meet over six feet tall turns out to be either dull, or just passing through town?"

"Maybe, someday..."

"Don't worry, Sis!" Irene smiled and hugged Arlene. "I'm very happy for the both of you. Uh—did Jason ever tell you? Has he got a BIG brother?"

Nearly two centuries ago in the fateful course of human events Liberty was born. With justifiable pride we declared our Independence... Liberty and the rights of all men. The spiritual aspect of the proposition of freedom, equality and justice for all was fundamental in the development of these new ideas. Liberty loving fathers, possessed of unyielding faith and vital religious convictions supplied the genius. Before a government could be founded on the brotherhood of man... there had to be the Fatherhood of God. Then let us preserve this freedom through eternal vigilance, unceasing prayer and unflinching faith. Independence!!!... the Fourth of July. *Let us ever remember the source of our freedom...
